DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

1. Claims 11, 13, 15-17, 19 and 20 are unpatentable over 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being anticipated by U.S. Patent No. 6, 220,569 to Kelly in view of U.S. Patent No. 4,969,629 to Athanassiu.
2. As per claims 11 and 15-17, Kelly discloses (see Figures 1 and 2) an orifice member (at (15)) defining a first surface, the orifice member having an inlet and an outlet (at (13)), a plunger (51) having a magnetic pole and coil (62) which energizes to move the plunger, the plunger being movable relative to the orifice member; a first guide spring (26) situated between the orifice member and the plunger and having a portion attached to a first end of the pole when the coil is energized, the first guide spring defining a second surface (32), the second surface (32) being sealable against the first surface to prevent fluid flow between the inlet and the outlet, the first and second sealing surfaces being co-planar when the plunger is in its closed position. However, Kelly does not teach a second guide spring. Athanassiu teaches a valve having a first spring (80) and a second guide spring (70), the second guide spring located between a pole and coil assembly (50) and a plunger (52) proximal end, the second guide spring supporting the plunger radially and preventing radial movement of the plunger when the plunger is being pulled towards the pole during operation of said valve assembly. As the endeavor of Kelly and Athanassiu is for the actuation of a valve, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have modified the valve of Kelly with the second guide spring of Athanassiu in order to prevent a plunger from "bottoming out" during actuation.

3. As per claim 13 and 19, the plunger is moved to the open position when the coil is energized.
4. As per claim 20, the guide spring of Kelly urges the plunger in the closed position.
